Getting Started

In order to purchase Kahua applications and licenses, you must first be a registered Kahua user and have Domain Administrator privileges. Registering for Kahua is by invitation only, and there are several ways to receive an invitation and become a registered user.

- Invitation from a project partner
  - If you will be collaborating with a project partner who uses Kahua, your partner can send you an invitation to create your company domain and user account
  - Because you are the first person at your company to join Kahua, you are designated the Kahua Domain Administrator
  - Domain Administrator privileges permit you to add additional users, and purchase and assign additional licenses
- Invitation from an administrator on your company domain
  - If someone in your company has already registered with Kahua and created your domain, the administrator can send you an invitation to create your user account
  - The administrator will also be able to purchase and assign the appropriate licenses to you
  - If necessary, the administrator can add you to the appropriate groups so that you can also purchase and assign licenses
- Contact Kahua
  - Navigate to the Kahua.com home page, click on the Contact Us link, and fill out the required information
  - A Kahua representative will contact you, and will use the information to send you an invitation to join Kahua
